

Annihilating Filter-based Low Rank Hankel Matrix Approach for Biomedical Imaging and Image Processing

Jong Chul Ye¹

¹*Bio/Brain Engineering, KAIST, South Korea*

Abstract: In this paper, I will present an annihilating filter-based low-rank Hankel matrix approach for biomedical imaging and image processing that converts a compressive image reconstruction problem as a low-rank interpolation problems. The theoretical performance guarantee as well as various applications in imaging and image processing will be demonstrated.